

The Bible, the Economy, & the Poor

A Kripke Symposium

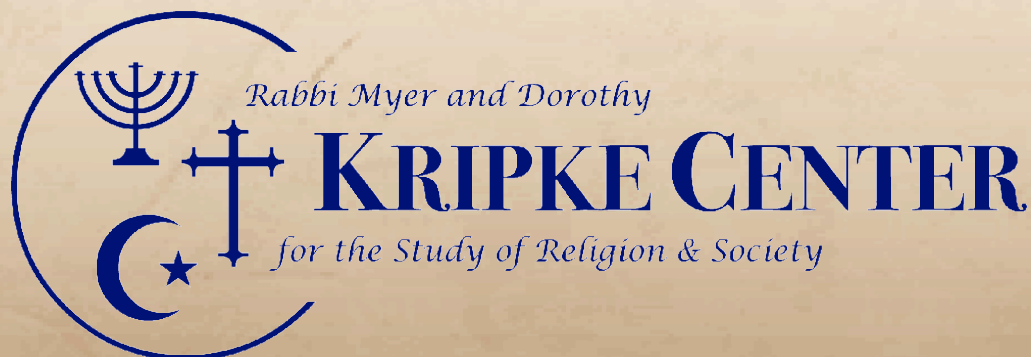

February 14–15, 2013

Thursday: The Biblical Tradition

Friday: Theological and Ethical Responses

- 8:15–8:30 Gathering, Introductions, and Welcome
- 8:30–9:15 Gale Yee, “The Creation of Poverty in Ancient Israel”
- 9:15–10:00 Ronald A. Simkins, “The Widow and Orphan in the Political Economy of Ancient Israel”
- 10:15–11:00 Gordon Brubacher, “Solomon, Incorporated”
- 11:00–11:45 Marvin Chaney, “The Political Economy of Peasant Poverty: What the Eighth-Century Prophets Presumed but Did Not State”
- 12:30–1:15 Roger Nam, “The Poorest of the Land”: Perception and Identity of the Remnant in Jeremiah”
- 1:15–2:00 Nicolae Roddy, “You Didn’t Build That: A Prophetic View of the Political Economy from Exile”
- 2:15–3:00 Richard Horsley, “The Centralization of Political-Economic Power and the Generation of Poverty: The Challenge of Jesus’ Mission”
- 3:00–3:45 Susan Calef, “‘Profit Margins’ and the Lukan Economy of Salvation: An Analysis of the Language of Having and Being in the Gospel of Luke”
- 4:00–4:45 Brigitte Kahl, “Justification and Justice – Reading Paul with the Economically Vanquished”
- 4:45–5:30 Leonard J. Greenspoon, “‘God Stands Together with The Poor’: How Jews Viewed Poverty and Aided the Poor in the Post-Biblical Period”

- 8:30–9:15 Jill Jacobs, “A Jewish Perspective on Economic Justice”
- 9:15–10:00 Charles McDaniel, “Financialization and the Changing Face of Poverty: Muslim and Christian Perspectives”
- 10:15–11:00 Jay Carney, “The Danger of Description: The Ethnic Labeling of the Poor in Colonial Rwanda”
- 11:00–11:45 Tom Kelly, “Challenging the Status Quo: How Rutilio Grande, S.J. Used Scripture to Address Socio-Economic Inequality”
- 12:30–1:15 Kent Van Til, “‘Luxury’ in Babylon: Revelation 18 as Economic Critique”
- 1:15–2:00 Andrew Gustafson, “Business in the Service of the Common Good: A Christian Perspective”
- 2:15–3:00 Christine Firer Hinze, “Envisaging and Enacting U.S. Catholic Ethic of Economic Solidarity: Personal, Communal, and Public Policy Demands”
- 3:00–3:45 Thomas Massaro, S.J., “The Bible and Social Justice: Has Anything Changed in our Third Millennium?”
- 4:00–4:45 Roger Bergman, “Teaching and Learning an Option for the Poor”
- 4:45–5:00 Closing Comments

All Sessions are in the Harper Center 3029